Handwritten text in Burmese script, likely a historical document or manuscript. The text is written in a cursive style and spans across the top half of the page. It appears to be a list or a series of entries, possibly related to a royal decree or a historical record. The text is written in a dark ink on aged, slightly discolored paper.

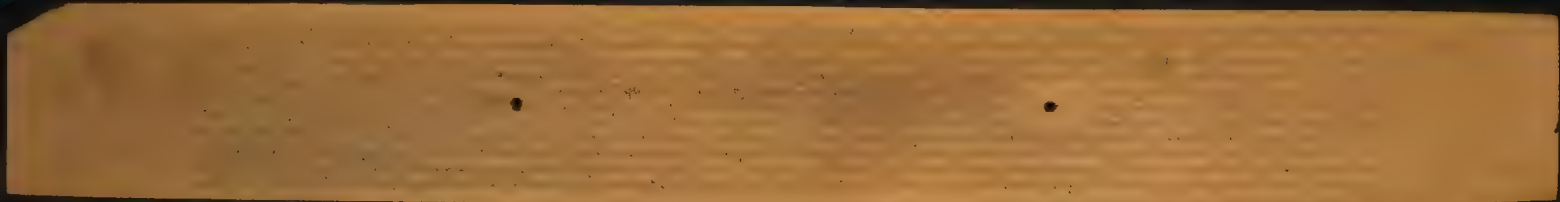

Handwritten text in Burmese script, continuing from the top half. This section contains more entries, possibly a continuation of the list or a separate section of the document. The handwriting is consistent with the top half, and the text is written on the same aged paper. The bottom half of the page shows some faint, illegible markings and a small number '2' in the bottom left corner.

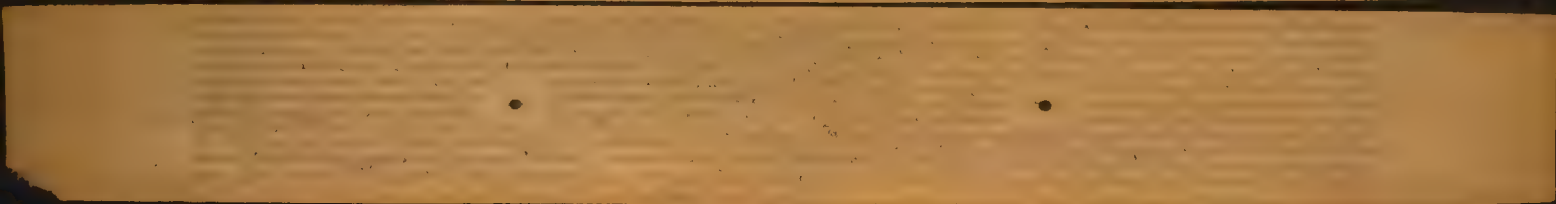

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or letter. The text is written in a dark ink on aged, slightly discolored paper. There are two distinct circular holes or indentations on the left side of the page, possibly from binding or damage. The script is dense and fills most of the page area.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or letter. The text is written on aged, yellowed paper and is mostly illegible due to fading and the quality of the reproduction. The script appears to be from a European language, possibly Italian or Spanish, based on the character shapes and the use of capital letters. The text is organized into several lines, with some words appearing to be underlined or written in a larger, bolder hand. The overall appearance is that of a historical manuscript or a personal letter from the 16th or 17th century.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem. It is shown that the problem is of great importance and that it has not been completely solved. The author then proceeds to a detailed analysis of the problem.
 He shows that the problem can be reduced to a system of equations. The solution of this system is then obtained by the method of successive approximations. The author then discusses the properties of the solution and shows that it is unique. Finally, he gives some numerical results and compares them with the results of other authors.

2. In the second part of the paper, the author considers the case of a particular value of the parameter. He shows that in this case the problem can be solved exactly. The solution is then compared with the results of the first part of the paper. The author then discusses the
 other authors.
